UNITED NATIONS DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME

[Original: English]

[5 August 1993]

Anguilla

1. The United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) assistance programme for the period from 1992 to 1996 is described in document DP/CP/ANL/2: Second Country Programme for Anguilla, which was approved by the Governing Council of UNDP in May 1992. It makes provision for $1,466,000 in technical cooperation resources, of which $1,266,000 are to be provided under the regular indicative planning figure (IPF) allocated to this country.

2. Anguilla also continues to benefit from the Multi-Island Programme for the Eastern Caribbean which is implemented through the Organization of Eastern Caribbean States (OECS). The programme of assistance for the period from 1992 to 1996 is described in document DP/CP/CAR/5: Fifth Multi-Island Programme for the Countries of the Eastern Caribbean, which was approved by the Governing Council of UNDP in May 1992. It makes provision for $4.2 million in technical cooperation resources, of which $4 million are to be provided under the regular Multi-Island IPF.

3. In addition, Anguilla is a beneficiary of the programme of assistance offered by UNDP and the Caribbean Community (CARICOM), which is a component of the Fourth Regional Programme for Latin America and the Caribbean. The programme of assistance for the period from 1992 to 1996 is described in document DP/RLA/NOTE/4: Fourth Regional Programme for Latin America and the Caribbean, which was approved by the Governing Council of UNDP in May 1992. The planned expenditure for the CARICOM-component of the regional programme for the period from 1992 to 1996 is $7 million.

Bermuda

4. Bermuda, with a per capita income in 1983 and 1989 of $10,280 and $22,260 respectively, has been affected in both the fourth and fifth cycles by Net Contributor Country provisions. Accordingly, it has not been issued an IPF for the fifth planning cycle. However, decision 91/29 of the Governing Council of UNDP, adopted at its thirty-eighth session in June of 1991, provides for countries such as Bermuda to be considered as recipients of UNDP resources under the country IPF. Bermuda is therefore entitled to participate in all other components of the UNDP programme, including projects financed under the regional and interregional indicative planning figures and projects financed from the Special Programme Resources.

British Virgin Islands

5. The UNDP programme of assistance for British Virgin Islands for the period from 1987 to 1991 is described in document DP/CP/BVI/2: Second Country Programme for the British Virgin Islands, which was approved by the Governing Council of UNDP in 1986. It makes provision for $1,665,000 in technical assistance, of which the sum of $220,000 was provided under the regular IPF issued to the British Virgin Islands. This programme has been extended through 1992 as approved by the Council in May 1992. A further extension, through 1993, is to be proposed for approval by the Council at its June 1993 session. It is anticipated that approximately $100,000 will be available for programming during the extension period. A new country programme document for the British Virgin Islands, covering the period from 1994 to 1996 is to be submitted to the Council in February 1994.

6. The British Virgin Islands, with a 1989 per capita income of $7,400, will be affected by Net Contributor Country obligations during the fifth cycle. It has been issued with an IPF of $102,000 for the fifth cycle.

7. Decision 91/29 of the Governing Council of UNDP, adopted at its thirty-eighth session in June of 1991, provides for Net Contributor Countries such as the British Virgin Islands to be considered as recipients of UNDP resources under the country IPF. The British Virgin Islands is therefore entitled to participate in all other components of the UNDP programme, including projects financed under the regional and interregional indicative planning figures and projects financed from the Special Programme Resources.

8. The British Virgin Islands also continues to benefit from the Multi-Island Programme for the Eastern Caribbean, which is implemented through the Organization of Eastern Caribbean States (OECS). The British Virgin Islands is an associate member of this organization. The OECS programme of assistance for the period from 1992 to 1996 is described in document DP/CP/CAR/5: Fifth Multi-Island Programme for the Countries of the Eastern Caribbean, which was approved by the Governing Council of UNDP in May 1992. It makes provision for $4.2 million in technical cooperation resources, of which $4 million are to be provided under the regular Multi-Island IPF.
